THE SAD IMPACT

THE STORIES BEHIND THE VIDEOS...

From time to time you may encounter a person who is expressing thoughts of suicide on your social media sites. If someone you know online is showing any of these warning signs, it is important that you post a message encouraging them to call the Lifeline. If you are friends with the person in real life or know where the person is, please call 1-800-273-TALK (8255) so that you can talk to a crisis counselor.

- o Writing about wanting to die or to kill oneself.
- o Writing about feeling hopeless or having no reason to live.
- o Writing about feeling trapped or in unbearable pain.
- o Writing about seeking revenge.

How can I get a video removed from YouTube?

Sometimes people will post videos of you or your child on YouTube without your permission. If you have contacted the person who posted them and cannot get him or her to remove the videos, contact YouTube directly to request that the videos be taken down.

To get a video removed that features your child, you must submit a privacy complaint.

To do this

- o Goto http://www.google.com/support/youtube/bin/request.py?page=&contact_type=privacy
- o Fill out the form and include the URLs in question
- o Click on "My Child is Shown" under the list of URLs and fill out the field to provide more details about the situation
- o Click on "Submit"
- o The incident will be investigated

To contact YouTube

- o Go to <http://www.google.com/support/youtube/bin/request.py?contact=1>
- o Choose the option which best fits your situation
- o You may have to have a log in to report abuse
- o Create a log-in and continue with your complaint

To flag a video as inappropriate

Create a login

When you are logged in, find the video and click on the "flag" link below the video

A small window will open asking you to explain why the video is inappropriate

Under the "Choose a Reason" drop-down menu, choose a reason for your complaint

Click "Continue"

How do I report an offensive video?

If you believe a video posted on Facebook doesn't follow the Facebook Community Standards, you can report it by clicking on the video and selecting Report from the Options menu below it. The following video categories are not allowed on the site:

- o Videos containing nudity
- o Videos with graphic content shared for sadistic effect or to celebrate or glorify violence
- o Videos with racist/hate speech
- o Videos that target an individual

Please keep in mind that Facebook reviews every report we receive. These reports will be kept confidential.
